

E-Commerce Sales Dashboard – Executive Summary

Overview

The dashboard analyzes 2,000 sales transactions, 500 customers, 100 products, and 20 stores across multiple regions. The primary objective was to identify sales performance, customer behavior, product trends, and business opportunities.

Key Performance Metrics

- Total Revenue: $2.17 Million
- Total Orders: 2,000
- Total Units Sold: 4,964
- Store Network: 20 stores
- Customer Base: 500 customers

Key Findings

1. North Region Dominates Sales

North generated $1.38M in revenue, significantly outperforming South ($0.44M), East ($0.20M), and West ($0.16M).

Decision: Expand inventory and marketing investments in the North region while investigating underperformance in East and West.

2. Sports and Electronics Drive Revenue

Sports ($542K) and Electronics ($504K) are the highest revenue-generating categories.

Decision: Increase stock levels and promotional focus on these categories.

3. Platinum Customers Generate the Highest Revenue

Platinum members generated $661K in revenue, outperforming Bronze, Gold, and Silver segments.

Decision: Strengthen loyalty programs and encourage customer upgrades.

4. Revenue is Well Distributed Across Payment Methods

PayPal ($757K), Credit Card ($715K), and COD ($702K) show balanced customer preferences.

Decision: Continue supporting multiple payment options and introduce payment-based promotions.

5. Seasonal Sales Peaks Exist

March, April, July, August, and September show higher sales activity.

Decision: Plan inventory, staffing, and marketing campaigns ahead of peak months.

Strategic Recommendations

Short-Term: Increase inventory for Sports and Electronics, target East and West regions, and launch loyalty upgrade campaigns.

Medium-Term: Optimize pricing, analyze customer behavior, and improve retention programs.

Long-Term: Expand successful product lines, strengthen regional presence, and implement predictive forecasting models.

Business Conclusion

The business generated $2.17M in revenue, led by the North region, Sports and Electronics categories, and Platinum loyalty customers. Future growth can be achieved through regional expansion, stronger loyalty programs, and better planning around seasonal demand.
